Shot By a Burglar.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 29.- | Special Tele gram to THE BEE. !- A burglar named Webb entered the residence of Mr. Thomas McClausland, at the village of that name south of Clinton, last night. While he was endeavoring to force Miss Minnie McClausland to tell him the combination of her father's safe the father entered the room and was shot by the burglar in the shoulder. The burglar fled, but the alarm was given and after being tracked several miles he was arrested and brought to Clinton. He admitted having been in the house, but said that a confederate did the shooting. The sheriff started across the country with his prisoner about 5 o'clock to Davenport, Ia, and unless he cluded the vigilantes it is probable that they have lynched the burglar. About sixty men gathered at McClausland's home threatening to hang the About sixty men gathered at Mc wretch when he passed them. The wounded man is not expected to live. A Sunday Rest Convention. BURLINGTON, Ia., Oct. 29.- | Special Tele gram to THE BEE.]-One of the most important conventions ever held in Iowa was an session here to-day. It was the Sabbath Rest convention, and was attended by a targe number of delegates from different points in the state. The object of the convention was the formation of plans to rectify the growing evil of Sunday amusements and unnecessary work of all kinds. Addresses were made by prominent ministers from various cities in Iowa and a plan of work formed, which will be earnestly prosecuted throughout every portion of Iowa

Lively Political Contests. MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., Oct. 29 .- [Specia to THE BEE.]-A close and interesting political contest is going on in this county over representative to the state legislature between Riddell, the republican candidate, and McGarien, the democratic nominee. The county bas a republican plurality of about 150, there being about 350 union labor votes. The indications are that McGarien is slightly in the lead, as he is a practical farmer and will draw a heavy vote from that element. The labor party is making no campaign what ever, so that it is likely that their vote will be divided pretty clearly upon the line of their former party affiliations.

senatorial district, composed of Crawford, Harrison and Monona counties. the contest between Romans (republican and Bolter (democrat) is probably being the most closely contested of any senatorial district in Iowa. The district has a republican plurality of 180, with 800 union labor votes this latter being the bone of contention Just what the result will be is difficult to de termine, but both sides are leaving no stonunturned. Bolter has represented this count, and district for twenty years, and is a tho ough politician and has the prestige of half a lifetime of political activity. Romans is a very popular man in Crawford county, which is the democratic stronghold, and doubtless will carry more than his party vote there,

STATE NEWS.

Cattle Dying. REYNOLDS, Neb., Oct. 29. - [Special to TEE Bgs. |-The report that cattle were dying from the effects of smut on the corn stocks near this place has raised considerable excitement and apprehension of serious loss among the cattle men. A correspondent of the Han made a tour of inspection yesterday and found on the farm of G. W. Simpkins a herd of five fat cattle in which the plague or nisease had just commenced to snow itself and it did its work so rapidly that six of the herd died in one day. The first intimation of this disease is noticed by the animal standing stiff legred and involuntarily twitching and trembling. If left alone they will not move or run around, but if disturbed will not move or rain around, but it disturbed they become very ferecious, as one party that was with us was induced to climb a tree very lively. The animal dies within from two to three hours from the time it is taken sick. In this instance several dead animals were opened and examined. All the organs appeared to be in a healthy condition and the cause could not be satisfactorily explained. norde we know of a preventative or remedy. If it is from the corn stalks then the stalk fields will be lost to the farmer and a dangerous place to feed cattle. There are cattle dying on five different farms near here the same as on the one we visited.

Arrested as a Suspected Murderer. FAIRMONT, Neb., Oct. 29.— Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Calvin McMurrin, a young man about twenty-five years of age, who has lived here for a number of years, was arrested this evening by Sheriff D. linchanan, of Sterling, Colo., charged with having participated in the murder of Otto Larsen and James Johnson, two section men, about five miles west of Julesburg, Colo., on Sauday, August 25. The suspected young man left here last April for Denver in search of work, and, not flading it, started to return. The Friday before the murder he was seen in Stering, about sixty miles west of Julesburg, in company with another man. Julesburg, in company with another man, and they were tramping east and must have

THE UNION PACIFIC EXPLAINS

The Present Contract Superior to the Tripartite Alliance.

THAT WAS A PULING AFFAIR.

Great Things Expected of the North western Deal-Opening of the lilinois Central Beidge

The Union Pacific is Confident. Boston, Oct. 29 .- The following is the Union Pacific view of the Union Pacific Northwestern alliance in answer to the westion : "How does this contract differ from the old tripartite alliance?" "The tripartite contract was with three allies, and premature. The present is a much closer alliance with one ally and is mature. The Union Pacific is now much stronger than when it made the tripartite alliance and is more able to back it up. If the Rock Island says the tripartite agreement is still in force then it must give us all its Denver business, and for what purpose is the Rock Island now in Denver? The tripartite was broken by the withdrawal of the Northwestern and made worthless by the building of other lines westward. Northwestern was already reaching to Den ver and might soon start for more western points. Now instead of of a competitor the Northwestern becomes a close ally, extending our system to Lake Superior and Chicago, and, if need be, to the Atlantic seaboard through the Vanderbiit lines. The North-western takes care of the whole of our westbound traffic and we take care of the east-bound business for ten years with an arbitration board to prevent friction.'

Consolidation the Great Question.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-The subject of railway consolidation is the all-absorbing one in Chicago. The Union Pacific-Northwestern arrangement has already fallen among rocky piaces, as shown by the remarks of a Northwestern official that their through trains would run through to Portland instead of San Francisco, rs contemplated. This shows that the Southern Pacific has already refused the use of its old Central Pacific line to the combination. The Northern Pacific, too, cannot be expected to be perfectly passive at the prospect of having the cream of its passenger traffic to be perfectly passive at the prospect of having the cream of its passenger traffic diverted to the lines of its hated rival, the Union Pacific. The most absurd consolida-tions have been formed on paper, and with no other foundation than the imaginations of space writers. That there are, as yet, consolidations in prospect, every railway official in Chicago seems to believe. The most authentic is that the Rock Island will combine in some way with the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and extend its lines to the Gulf of Mexico. A Rock Island official assured your representative to-day that a very import-ant deal would be ripe for publication within forty-eight hours, and the above conclusion is not wholly a guess. President Cable is now in New York arranging the details. Popular opinion is agreed that within three years all the important lines west of the Missouri and most of the important lines will be consolidated in four grand organizations. In no case are the details fully worked out, but the basis for three are the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific systems, with either the Rock Island or Burington as a competitor on the Pacific coast. One or the other of the last two must build through to the Pacific or be placed in an extremely embarrassing po sition. Many level-headed railroad men believe that both will push their lines to the

Chairman Faithorn Returns. CHICAGO, Oct. 29,-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- Chairman Faithorn, of the Western Freight association; returned today from New York, where he has been in consultation with trunk lines and central traffic officials relating to the raising of Northwestern rates to the old basis existing before the Burlington & Northern reduced the proportion of the through rate 75 per cent and the local rates 33%. Chairman Faithorn was in excellent humor over the result of the conference. Said he:

"It seems to me the way is perfectly clear to an advance in rates. All interests were represented at the New York meeting and all were satisfied." "On what basis did the Burlington & Northern agree to the advance!"
"That the Chicago-St. Paul roads bo treated by the trunk lines exactly as are the Canadian lines. 'Did the trunk lines agree!"

The above is the most cheering news the Chicago St. Paul lines have heard in years. It means that the trunk lines will prorate with the northwestern lines or cease prorating with Canadian lines—in any event, that the Chicago-St. Paul lines will be on a perfect equality with the Canadian lines in competing for northwest-ern business. Heretofore, for some reason best known to themselves, the trunk ines have preferred that traffic originating in their territory shall pass through Canada before it reaches the northwestern states and territories.

A special meeting of the northwestern di-visions of the Western Freight association has been called for to-morrow to consider the matter. There is no reasonable doub that an amicable conclusion will be reached, and that the rates will be restored by the close of navigation.

It is 58 feet above high water ank 110 feet above low water. The piers are in pneumatic caissons and are sunk fifty feet below the bed of the river. An engineering feat was here successfully altempted, which reads like a fairy tale. At this depth below the river bed to foundation was reached and the river bed no foundation was reached and it was impossible to sink the piers further They were consequently packed with sand, and the immense bridge is really sustained by the friction of the sand on the sides of the pier. HE IS A WERY SMOOTH MAN. This is the Way Local Sports Speak of

Manager Sciec
The Bre's intrination in Monday's issue of certain secret, machinations within the ranks of the National league with the view of blocking the operations of the brother hood, excated a good deal of stir among the local supporters of the game. Many votaries of the national game have been free with their avowals of belief in the suggested skullduggery. One director went so far as to declare that if Selee occasioned any difficulty over the Cooney-Nagle deal and made an effort to defraud the Omaha management out of these two valuable players, that the whole Western association would be disrupted, and htigation instituted and pushed to the bitter end.

Another matter that savers much of crooked dealing is the fact that Cincinnati was not allowed; to negotiate with Kid Nichols, after they had to all intents and purposes purchased his release in an open and above board manner. The men at the head of the Cincinnati club are good business men and conduct their affairs in a business-like manner, as the writer knows of his own personal the writer knows of his own personal knowledge. They, of course, did not intend to pay over the money to Omaha until Nichols had been communicated with, and secured beyond cavil and dispute.

Nichols was really and squarely sold to them, and in response to President Mc-Cormick's draft on them for the money. President Stern telegraphed back that the draft would not be honored until their agent had seen Nichols, Now Cincinnati alleges that Omaha had received a bigger offer for the Kid after their figures had been accepted, and that this offer came from Manager Selee in behalf of the Bostor ciub. They further assert that Selee spirited the Kid away: that he took him to Boston, where he is now, and where he is to remain where he is now, and where he is to remain next season as a member of the Boston team. They claim that an option has been given Selee on this promising young twirler, and that there is no probability of his ever returning to Omaha to play ball.

These opinions are all verified by the telegrams from Boston, which have repeatedly announced Nichols as a member of next very steam. However, President Money to the president Money of the strength of the sear a team.

next year's team. However, President Mc-Cormick declares that neither Nichols, Cooney or Nagle have been disposed of to Cooney or Nagie have been disposed of to any club, and that they will play ball in Omaha or nowhere, if there is equity or justice in the national agreement. He is anything but pleased with Selec's actions in these matters, and wrote him a volume or two last night that will probably be full of surprises for Omaha's quandom manager. The annual meeting of the Western asso-clation will convene at the West house, Min neapolis, next Saturday and that there will be music in the air no one posted upon the questionable status of western base ball affairs will for a moment doubt. The Omaha representatives, Presi-dent McCormick and Secretary dent McCormick and Secretary Brandt, will in all likenhood bend sedulous efforts toward ascertaining to just what extent A. G. Spalding is interested Western association-just what right he has to dictate measures for the Minneau olis club, and whether there is any existing collusion between this magnate of the league and certain officials of the Western associa tion. There is a picnic brewing, base ball patrons can rest assured, but just what the outcome will be would be difficult to predict.

The Brotherhood's Prospects. CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 29.-Albert L. John son, who, it is claimed, is the originator of the base ball brotherhood scheme, thinks there can be no doubt of its success. He thinks the co-oberative plan will increase the chances of good behavior on the part of the men.

They intend to offer money prizes for the inferent places in the league race, and there will be something more than an empty honor to play for, as at present.

He knows of but three league players who nave not pledged themselves to support the organization, and it only remains to be seen whether all the men will keep their word. If they do the necessary capital awaits them in every city, and he thinks the public will help those who help themselves. Johnson takes no stock in the threats of the managers of the old clubs, and has no fear of legal pro ceedings, injunctions or otherwise, interfering with the brotherhood scheme. Liveryman Dinan's White Horse is Guilty.

THE TRIAL OF THE TRIANGLE.

All About the Stir It Made in the Clan-na-Gael Camps-Beggs' Defense Being Conducted Independently.

A Division of Interests. Curcago, Oct. 22.-The fact that there is a division of interests in the defense in the Cronin case and that Senior Guardian Beggs is having his case conducted independently of the others was shown to-day when For rest, on behalf of the defendants, objected to the admission of O'Connor's testimony. Mr. Foster, counsel for Beggs, said on the latter's behalf that he wanted the records to show that no objection is made on his part to the introduction of this testimony. He invites the fullest and clearest investigation of his connection with the Clan-na-Gael, and objects to the introduction of no testimony that will forward such an investigation

At the opening of Judge McConnell's court this morning Mrs. Winifred Dinan, wife of Patrick Dinan, the iveryman who owns the famous white horse, took the stand as a witness. She testified to the facts about the white horse being taken and driven north on the night of May 4, and his return at 9:30 o'clock, steaming with perspiration as if he had been driven hard.

John F. O'Connor, a member of the famous Camp 20, of the Clan-na-Gael, of which Beggs, Burke, Coughlin and other suspects were members, was next placed on the stand. O'Connor was recording secretary of the camp when Beggs was senior guardian. After numerous details as to the various ways and methods of transacting business, the witness testified that on February S last Thos. F. O'Connor at a meeting of the camp asked if the report of this trial com-mittee that tried what is now known as the triangle had ever been heard. Beggs said it that not. O'Connor then said it was strange that the camp never got a report when he heard it read in another camp in the city. The name of the man who read it in the other was understood by O'Connor as Dr. Cronin. After a long wrangle between the lawyers the court admitted the record of the proceedings of Camp 20 on February 8, made by the witness at the time, and he proceeded to read it, subject to many interruptions in the way of questions and objections. Generally, in referring to individual members of the camp. numbers instead of names were used, and in me case in which it was noted that certain numbers were appointed a committee to investigate the qualifications of an applicant for membership, the state attorney said he proposed to show that one of them was a umber borne by one of the prisoners at the Coming down to the matter of the camp's action on the supposed allegations against Dr. Cronin in connection with the trial of the riangle in Buffalo, the witness read as fol-

"Moved and seconded that an imperative demand be made on the executive committee at once for the immediate information of the trial committee. It was amended that the senior guardian notify the district member of the report that is going around regarding the report of the trial committee in one of the camps of this city. The motion was carried. A motion was made and seconded that secret committee of three be appointed by the senior guardian to investigate the rumors affoat regarding the trial of the ex-executive body. Carried."

"The senior guardian mentioned," the witness Said, 'was John F. Beggs, one of the men now on trial." The examination then proceeded as fol-

Q.-What occurred there before the motions were made on this committee?
A.—As 1 stated before, it was Tom O'Connor's remarks and asking if we got the report of the committee that tried the triangle, as it is now called. Beggs said that we hadn't, and O'Connor said it was strange that our camp never got it; that he heard it read in another camp in this city and that he could cell the name of the man who read it and the

An effort was made to show by the witness that there was a consultation between himself and Michael J. Kelly, A. J. F. and P. H. Nolan about the advisability lestroying the books of the camp, but the lefense objected and the court sustained the objection.

The witness further testified that the trial of the triangle, as he understood the matter, took place in Buffalo in October, 1888, and that the members of the triangle on trial were Sullivan, Feeley and Boland. The cross examination of the witnesses then began. After the afternoon session Andrew Foy, a member of Camp 20, was put on the stand as a witness. He was very non-committal, and with the greatest pertinacity avoided giving a positive answer even to the most innocent question. Finally he was brought o admit that he made a speech at Camp 20 when the matter of the report of the triangle rial committee came up. He made several attempts to explain the circumstances under which he made the speech and got badly tangled up. Finally he said:

"As far as I remember Captain O'Connor made the statement that Le Caron was the paid agent of the executive body of the Irish organization in this country, '' He also said: "I think there were $58,000 of the funds of this organization given to Le Caron for some object in England or Ire-

Foy also said O'Connor spoke of having heard the report of the trial committee received in another camp. This caused much excitement and was the cause of the witness' speech. His anger was caused, he said, thought that Le Caron got and of the Clan's funds for any purpose, and also to learn that the report of the trial committee had been given out in other camps sooner than in camp 20.

Michael J. Kelly, junior guardian of camp 20, told of the proceedings, though his memory was deficit as to details. He said the demand for the report of the trial committee grew out of O'Connor's control to the co statement to the effect that he had heard the report of the committee read in the camp of which Croum was a member, by Crouin himseif. This statement, by the way, is in con-tradiction of the evidence on this subject heretofore given and of all the statements, which have agreed in saying that O'Connor did not mention Cronin's name. The cross examination of Kelly brought out the fact that although he knew of the trial of the triangle he did not know who constituted that body until their names were oublished in the newspapers.

Anthony J. Ford, past guardian of camp 20, testified that at a meeting of camp 20, on February 22, Patrick McGarry and Richard Powers made speeches denouncing the trian gle, and that Senior Guardian Beggs replied defending Alexander Sullivan, one of the triangle's members. It was a warm dis-cussion and Heggs said it would have to be peace of war, or words to that effect. Stephen Colleran, a inborer, was the last witness. An attempt was made to get a statement of the proceedings of camp 20 on the night of February 8 from him, but with poor success. He was questioned sharply by the prosecution as to what he know of the relations of the various defendants with each other and their movements. It was developed that Martin Burke and Colleran had gone to Beggs' office twice in January and once in February. Witness said they went there to secure Beggs' aid in getting

TASCOTT STILL AT LARGE.

Chicago Officers Fail to Identify the Philadelphia Suspect.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Three pictures of the man arrested in Philadelphia on suspicion of being Tascott, the Snell murderer, arrived this morning. Sergeant Dammon, who had known Tascott since boyhood, and an Evening News reporter who went to school with him, failed to identify the pictures as those of the clusive Willie.

Later in the day, after more study of the photographs from Philadelphia, Lieutenant Elliott said he thought the original was a man wanted here for passing forged checks.

A photograph of another supposed Tascott was received from the authorities at Berthand, Colo., this morning. It is that of a stylishly dressed young woman. A lock of hair from the 'young woman's' head accompanies it. In the transmittal it is said the panies it. In the transmittal it is said the original of the photograph and owner of the hair was arrested in the garb shown and was found to be a man. When his sex was was revealed, he gave his name as Philo Boland and said he came from Colfax, Wash. The letter pdds that the authorities of Berthand have traced his movements since last June, when he was in Waitesville, Wash. He is now sick with typhoid fever. As attired in woman's garments he does not resemble Tascott.

. A Fortune Flown. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 .- The first news rereived by the authorities of the failure of the Chicago police to identify the photographs sent from here as being those of Tascott was received through the Associated press. Before the news reached here to-day which settled the question of identity the young man who said be came from Chicago and had played pool with Tascott in that city called at the central station, and asked to see the prisoner, whom he positively identified as Tascott.

Sutherland, the prisoner who is supposed to be Tascott, has acknowledged that under the name of Samuel Bowman he had in com-pany with another man been sentenced to two years and a half in the Ohio state penitentiary for rebbery. He was released last

SETTING UP THE SAFE GUARDS. The Council Places Props Under the

Union Depot Project. The council has agreed upon another ordi nance providing for a bond election on the union depot and viaduct projects, and will hold a special meeting to-night for the final passage of the ordinance.

At the meeting of the council last night the mayor presented a veto of the ordinance calling a special election to vote on the question of voting of bonds in the sum of $150,000 in aid of the Union depot company on the ground that the city's interests are not properly protected in the ordinance. The veto was sustained and a new ordinance was introduced as a substitute for the one vetoed corporated in the original, are as follows:

The Union Depot company shall "main-ain" as well as construct the union depot in accordance with the plans and specification already adopted; the bonds shall be dated January 1, 1891, and shall not be delivered until the viaduct has been built and open for ise, and at least $150,000 expended toward the construction of the union depot; and that in case any road is damaged by the refusal of the Union Pacific railway company to rent its bridge at reasonable rates, the $200,000 oonds required of the said company shall be available for the payment of such damages. The date for the election is fixed by ordinance for November 30. Mr. Wheeler wanted the rate of interest on the bonds fixed at 4 per cent, but was not successful. The ordinance was read and referred to the committee on viaducts and railways and the city attorney. The mayor also vetoed the resolution exending the time for the sittings of the boards of registration, claiming—

"This is clearly in violation of the laws of the state, which specify that the registration shall be beid upon certain days and those days only. A municipal government cannot set aside the laws of the state. The courts alone can decide the question as to the constitutionality of the law."
The veto was sustained. Huscall, Kaspar and Lowry voting against the veto.

The mayor also vetoed the contract with Hugh Murphy for paving Eighth street from Farnam to Douglas, the contract not having been let to the lowest responsible bidder. The veto was sustained.

A big grist of estimates for paving and grading improvements were presented from the board of public works. Some member of the council caught a final graing estimate and wanted to know if the contractors had replaced the sidewalks. No one knew, and Mr. Chaffee, after referring to the custom of contractors in falling to replace sidewalks torn up by them, moved that all floal esti-mates be referred to the board of public works for certificate to the effect that the sidewalks have been replaced. The motion was adopted.

C. B. Haven & Co.'s contract for furnishing the city with coal for the ensuing year was approved. The street commissioner's report for the week ending October 26, showing an expenditure of $715.76, was referred to the city Contractor Coots was granted permission to close up the alley in the rear of the new city hall; also to enclose Eighteenth street west of the city hall lot, leaving the sidewalk only open; also to erect a board fence on the Farnam street side of the building six feet from the car track, in order to confine all ouilding materials within the fences, thus saving the public from all risk from moving materials Mr. Coots also asked permission to use Milwaukee cement instead of Portland for concrete work on the city hall, except unde he tower, Mr. Coots reporting that found the Milwaukee cement that had been used in the old foundation was in excellent shape and he suggested that it be used in the further work. as it would save the city about $600. Mr. Kuspar and Mr. Counsman were afraid that such action on the part of the council would relieve the architects from any responsibility in case of any future defect in he building, and on Mr. Kaspar's motion the request was haid upon the table.

A. Forman's claim for $150 for damages to his horse and buggy which fell over an un-protected embankment on Fifth street, near

Pine street, was referred to the committee on claims.

John A. Creighton's petition to be allowed to build a retaining wall around his property at the corner of Twentieth and Chicago treets was granted, and the work ordered one under the direction of the city engineer A petition for the extension of Iwenty third street, from Vinton to Boulevard, was referred to the committee on streets and

Dr. Galbraith's claim of $190 for surgical attendance upon Sergeant Johnson was re-ferred to the fire and police commissioners. A petition requesting a repeal of the ordi-nance passed in May last opening Twenty-ninth street, from Hamilton street to Indiana evenue, was referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

A petition for the grading of Nicholas street, from Pleasant street to Lowe avenue, the county to pay the city's share of the work, was referred to the committee on grades and Mr. Tizard presented a very voluminous petition relative to a refund of taxes for grading on Twenty-third street. The clerk had read two lines of it when, on motion of Mr. Wheeler, it was referred to the commit-

A resolution was adopted granting the Omaha Street railway company permission to lay their tracks to grade on Pacific street from Twenty-minth avenue to Thirty-second street, and on Thirty-second street from Pa cuic to Woolworth avenue, the work to be completed by December 31, 1880.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Davis and adopted instructing the city attorney to prepare an ordinance providing for the creation of a board composed of the city building in-spector and chief of the fire department, to spector and chief of the fire department, to whom all applications to place steam engines and boilers shall be referred; also to prohibit the setting of steam engines and boilers above the ground floor of any building, and that all engines and boilers now located in the upper stories of brick buildings when in the opinion of the board the same are dangerous to life and property and detrimental to the building, the same shall be removed.

Upon the recommendation of the committee on judiciary, thus hoense inspector was instructed to require a bond from all fire insurance companies, as required by law, but that the collection of 2 per cent on all premiums be deferred, as the constitutionality of the law is being questioned in the

TWO SNAKES LOOSE ON A PIER Loses His Head by Retaining His Presence of Mind.

Two infant boa constrictors escaped from a barrel that was damped on pier 11, East river, several months ago from the schooner Mosquito, says the New York Sun. A sailor man aboard the schooner had brought the snakes here from South America to sell them. They disappeared between crevices in the pier.

On Thursday a longshoreman noticed the head of one of the snakes protruding from a hole just below the stringpiece of the pier. He deftly inserted the sharp point of his cotton book and gave a gentle pull. The box, finding himself sliding out, with great pres-enbe of mind coiled his prehensile tail around a pile. The longshoreman yanked with all his might. The thoughtless bon had evidently determined to drag up the pile rather than come out. He did not take into consideration the possibility of his head giving away. This is exactly what haping away. This is exactly what hap-pened, and the tail, lacking intellect-ual guidance, gradually unfolded itself, and followed the mutilated head out of the hole up on the pier.

The other snake has not been heard from.
